Mr. James Stokes was a quality decorator and sign writer whose speciality was Church decoration. He came to Gorey from Enniscorthy in 1870 just after the Fenian Rising and began working for the local business families as a self-employed painter.

James Stokes

The above notice is from the Souvenir Year Book 1934, Church of St Michael's Gorey

House painting & Decorating, Saturday 6th December 1879 – ‘James Stokes, late of Enniscorthy begs to inform the nobility, gentry and general public in the neighbourhood of Gorey, that he has opened an establishment at No. 5 Main Street, Gorey. Having long and extensive experience at the above business he undertakes to give general satisfaction to those who favour him with their patronage’

He was employed by the Doyne family who had a big house in the Ballymoney area. Mr Doyne was told he was a former Fenian and dismissed him from employment – the same day the old RIC surrounded the Stokes home on Main Street and searched the house for firearms. James Stokes's wife Margaret made her husband hide a gun behind a window shutter.

Despite him being dismissed he built up a very good trade and became one of the most respected of men and prospered in his business. The Stokes family were painter decorators in St. Michael's Church, Gorey. His sons Thomas, John & Patrick were noted tradesmen and continued trade as Church decorators, sign writers and general painters

'The Lawrence Photographic Collection' of photographs of the early years of the century had several good traditional style shopfronts in Gorey and these were maintained and painted regularly by the Stokes Brothers. These surviving examples of shopfronts were surveyed in detail by An Forus Fortartha and recommended for inclusion in the Co. Wexford Development Plan in 1975.

Thomas, his son was the one who pioneered early photography in Gorey and with his brothers John and Patrick were part of the old Gorey Picture Co. 1917-1920 which was closed by the British for showing a film called 'The Heart of Caitlin'. The moving pictures were started by the Stokes Brothers in the Old Town Hall at the back of Maxol Station on the Arklow road – these were shown twice weekly.

Stokes Bros. were Electrical Contractors, Radio stockists at 5, Main Street – Gorey Business Directory 1934.

Thomas settled in Arklow, with his sons Jim and Tom who carried on the high-quality work of their ancestors at Gorey and Enniscorthy. John and Patrick lived out their lives at 5 Main Street and will be long remembered for their generosity and contribution to Gorey town. Patrick was also a member of the Gorey Brass Band.

James Stokes died 8th June, 1920 aged 72 years and his wife Margaret died 9th December, 1932 aged 77.

Circa 1989 Mr. Jack Dunne had premises at 5, Main Street and later moved to 79, Main Street Gorey. He was a well-known in the Ballygarrett area and his involvement in the drapery trade goes back as far as 1947 but he spent most of his business life in Enniscorthy, before moving to Gorey. He also had a premises in 84, Lr. Main Street and it was painted in the black and amber colours of the Ballygarrett Realt na Mara GAA club. His son joined him in the business and their aim was to provide as wide a range of mens' and boys' wear as possible at highly competitive prices. The father and son partnership bring to the town a wealth of experience in the drapery trade.
